OUR HISTORY

1985

Our story starts in 1985 with one man, optical engineer and avid skier Dr. Mitch Ruda, and one unique idea: adapt space-based technology to create high performance eyewear.

And it worked.

The same coatings NASA used to protect satellite porthole windows from space radiation also protect the eye from harmful radiation on Earth.

With this revolutionary finding, Dr. Ruda created the Revo Light Management System™. Each Revo lens has multiple coatings for the highest level of protection and the sharpest possible vision in any light condition.

While maintaining our position as an iconic American brand, we've nurtured a cult following into a devoted community of enthusiasts from around the world.

2020

More than three decades later, the first-ever performance eyewear still has the best lens on Earth.
